Committee Reports

Audit Committee - nothing to report.
Policy Committee - meeting next week.
Technology Committee – haven't had a meeting. There was a family coding night this past Monday as part of the board of education's educational workshop. It was a terrific event. Parents had the opportunity to see how our K-5 students use various items such as Ozobot, Bee-bot, Blue-bot, coding on the iPad, Dash and Dot, Code-a-Pillar, Bloxels, Quiver App and Keva-Planks. At our last technology committee meeting we shared feedback from a visit to the Long Island Tech Summit a few weeks back. We had an update on our chrome book initiative as well as the distribution of iPads to the elementary schools.
Facilities Committee - meeting on December 6th.
Nutrition and Wellness Committee – haven't had a meeting.

Superintendent's Report - Updates:

Recognition of Student Participation in the 2017 New York State YMCA Model Youth Legislature for Middle Schools – Dr. Rianna turned this section of her report over to both Tracy Roberts and Adam Cirnigliaro, middle school teachers who attended the trip with the following four students:

Jason Downer, Ashly Freeman, Colin Gallagher and Samantha Seery. They passed around all the bills that were discussed at the meeting and also showed a video that was created from that meeting. Each student told the board and the superintendent about their experience at the New York State Capital Building where they learned about government and the system that goes along with passing a bill. Both Colin Gallagher and Samantha Seery received awards for their performances. Dr. Rianna thanked the students for representing Glen Cove with their outstanding performances. Each one of them along with Finley middle school being presented with a recognition award from the district. She went on to thank the teachers for making this possible. Dr. Rianna also mentioned that social studies coordinator is working on looking for opportunities for high schools students as well.

New Course Presentation – Dr. Israel along with Antonio Santana, Cassie Shannon, Andrew DiNapoli and Chris Barrie (Alex Doeschner, science chairperson, out sick) presented on their ideas for new course selections at the high school. They each addressed any questions that were presented. Handouts were available of the PowerPoint.

New Business

Board President Franklin attended a BOCES round table discussion last night of the services that BOCES offers and found it very helpful. They provided a book with services that our district currently uses with them and there were a lot of highlights.

Trustee Nedbor-Gross asked if administration has starting their meetings with principals and coordinators in preparation of budget season.

Trustee Juarez wanted to know how Monday's coding night went and if we received any feedback?

Trustee Alexandris-Miller was very impressed with all the work that went into coding night. It was very useful seeing the response we got. It's a nice window to see what parents really want to know about and as we plan our workshops it validates the idea of having these workshops. Parents and the community are interested in being engaged.

Trustee Venuto said that the key was seeing the middle school students helping the younger kids and how everyone was engaged from K-12. It was the best board event I ever attended.

Trustee Nedbor-Gross asked if the sheet with all the stations at the board workshop? It would have been helpful to know what was going on at each section.

Trustee Juarez mentioned that he saw people that didn't speak English running to see what was going on as well as adults on their hands and knees interacting with the kids. It was great bringing the community together and thought it was great.

Unfinished Business

Trustee Venuto asked the status of putting the bond committee in place

Trustee Juarez status of the air conditioning unit for the sixth grade wing of the middle school; status of ivy growing between the middle school and Deasy school; superintendent's evaluation; special education presentation; ninth period day and would also like to review the bus service contract? Would also like to see Trustee Venuto and the assistant superintendent run a board of education meeting. What the status of the brochure that was being worked on?
